

Networking event: Meet Your Neighbors

November 12th, the first round of Mittelbau-networking events of the Institute of Psychology took place in AND 4.06.

Doctoral students and post-docs from different chairs from the Institute of Psychology got together to exchange personal, professional, and research insights.

Insights from ongoing research in 7 chairs were briefly introduced in the first part of the event:

- Developmental Psychology: Infancy and Childhood
- Neuroplasticity and learning in normal aging
- Gerontopsychology
- Cognitive and affective Neuroscience
- Psychological Methods, Evaluation, and Statistics
- Clinical Psychology: Children/adolescents & couples/families
- Cognition

Mittelbau-Anlass: Networking event

Meet your neighbors!

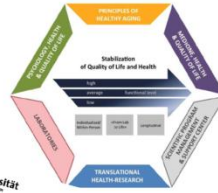

Donnerstag, 12. Nov. 2015

Developmental Psychology:
Infancy and Childhood

URPP Dynamics of Healthy Aging

Main approaches:
 -> Healthy aging (vs. ill aging)
 -> Stabilization (vs. decline)
 -> Real life (vs. lab)
 -> Within-person perspective (in addition to sample level)

Cognitive and Affective Neuroscience Team

Cognition - Research

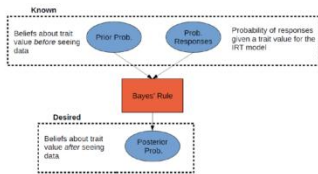

Example of ongoing projects

- Working memory
  - a) Capacity limits
  - b) The focus of attention in working memory
  - c) Rehearsal as a means to prevent forgetting
- Improving cognition through training
- Inhibition in aging
- Attention in and out: Selection of incoming input vs. of stored representations
- Early detection of suspicious people: ASPECTS project (cooperation with the Zurich State Police)

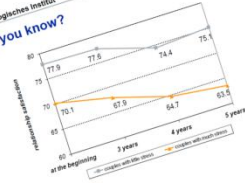

Understand human capacity limitations to process information for ongoing cognition

Working Memory
Reasoning
Executive Functions
Attention
Perception

The Bayesian Inference Process

Did you know?

We kindly thank the presenters for sharing their recent research efforts with the attending Mittelbau. Their contribution fomented vivid interactions during the Apéro that followed the presentations.

Time for the Apéro

We are looking forward to meet you again for the next *Meet Your Neighbor* event.

Save it in your agenda: Do, 4. February 2016, 4 pm

Your Mittelbau-Anlass team: Alessandra Souza & Rebekka Kuhn